FAQ

1.0.1

FRENCH CRUSADE™

FAQ1 - version 1.0.1

Core & Comprehensive Rules

RULES Q1: In what order do players apply BLOOD and BLESSING MARKERS to the same roll?

A: If two things happen at the same time, the player who has the Initiative determines the order in which they are performed. (Page 32 of the Trench Crusade Digital Rulebook).

RULES Q2: Is 'Move or Charge or Retreat' a single ACTION? Or are they each a different type of ACTION (a Move ACTION, a Charge ACTION and a Retreat ACTION)? If the latter is correct, can a model take more than one of them during the same Activation?

A: They are different types of ACTION: a Move* ACTION, a Charge* ACTION and Retreat ACTION. However, a model cannot take more than one of them during the same Activation. If you want to move a model more than once you must use a Dash* ACTION instead.

RULES Q3: Can you declare a Retreat ACTION for a model even if it is unable to move?

A: Yes. However, even though model cannot move, it is still subject to being attacked as it had Retreated (unless stated otherwise).

RULES Q4: How does being placed on the other side of a gap after Jumping Over a Gap work? Can a model with a Movement Characteristic of 6" uses 3" of movement before making a jump of 3",

A: Any movement required to place the model on the other side of a gap is treated as being 'free' movement, as long as the total of the move up to the gap and the distance of the gap itself is less than or equal to the model's Movement Characteristic. For example, a model with a Movement Characteristic of 6" can use 3" of movement before making a jump of 3", with the extra movement required to place them and their base on the other side of the gap being 'free'.

RULES Q5: When I shoot into a combat that has multiple friendly models and roll the 1-3 result that makes me target a friendly model, can I pick a friendly model that is in that combat but is out of Line of Sight of the shooting model?

A: No. You can only choose a model that can be chosen as a target by the attacking model (i.e. is visible to the attacking model and in range of the weapon being used). If there is no such model, the attack is wasted.

Keyword Questions

KEYWORDS Q1: Can I target the point under a model's base with a BLAST weapon?

A: No. You can only target a point on the Battlefield that is in the attacking model's Line of Sight - and the LoS to the ground under the model is blocked by the model's base.

KEYWORDS Q2: If I Activate a model in a FIRETEAM as an individual model, can I then Activate the second model later in the Turn as a FIRETEAM - therefore gaining a second Activation for the model that Activated first as an individual?

A: No.

KEYWORDS Q3: Do Keywords like IGNORE ARMOUR or IGNORE (MODIFIER) also ignore the Special Rules or Abilities granted by that Armour or the source of the Modifier?

A: No.

KEYWORDS Q4: Do weapons with the PISTOL Keyword with the effects of a type of ammunition (i.e. Incendiary Ammunition, Armour-Piercing Bullets, etc.) gain the benefits of said ammunition when they are used in melee combat?

A: Yes.

KEYWORDS Q5: How does the TOUGH Keyword interact with other rules that prevent a model from being taken Down?

A: You follow the rules as written, and apply them one after the other in the order they occur. For example, a Lieutenant with the TOUGH Keyword wearing Machine Armour is taken Out of Action for the first time in a game. The TOUGH Keyword meansthat the Out of Action Injury result is treated as a Down Injury result the first time it is rolled, and Machine Armour has the Standfast rule which means that, when a model in Machine Armour suffers a Down result, it is treated as a Minor Wound result instead. This means that the Lieutenant does not suffer the Out of Action result, but instead suffers the Minor Wound result. The next time they suffer an Out of Action result, they are taken Out of Action as the TOUGH Keyword only alters the Injury result the first time it is rolled.

Battlekit Questions

BATTLEKIT Q1: Why do the pieces of Battlekit in the Standard Battlekit and Glory Item sections of the rules not have the stipulations (like Bayonet Lug, Shield-Combo, etc) included in their descriptions, as they are when they appear in the Faction Lists? Is this a mistake?

A: No. The Battlekit in the Standard Battlekit and Glory Item sections can be used by several different Warbands, and sometimes the stipulations for the different Warbands will be different. Because of this we decided not to include the stipulations in the Standard Battlekit and Glory Item sections of the rulebook. For example, the forces of New Antioch are relentlessly drilled in the art of bayonet fighting, granting their Shotguns the Bayonet Lug stipulation. However, the hordes of the Court of the Seven-Headed Serpent see little reason to entertain the mundanities of the bayonet, instead opting for more arcane and brutal weaponry when they face their enemies up close. Therefore, their Shotguns do not have the Bayonet Lug stipulation.

Starting A Warband Questions

STARTING A WARBAND Q1:When I have a special rule that allows me to purchase Battlekit from other Factions Armoury Tables, does that Battlekit still come with the stipulations from the other Armoury Table (i.e. ELITE only, Shield Combo, Limit: 1, etc.)?

A: Yes. Battlekit purchased from an Armoury Table always comes with the listed stipulations unless stated otherwise.

STARTING A WARBAND Q2: Do weapons with dual-types such as Pistols or Halberd-Guns count towards both limits of Ranged and Melee weapons that a model can have?

A: No. Weapons count towards the limit of the same type they are purchased from on an Armoury Table. For example, a Pistol counts as one 1-handed Ranged Weapon, whereas a Halberd-Gun counts as one 2-Handed Melee Weapon.

STARTING A WARBAND Q3: If I have a Shield, can I have a 1-Handed Melee Weapon AND a 1-Handed Ranged Weapon?

A: Yes.

Faction Lists Questions

Trench Pilgrims

TRENCH PILGRIMS Q1: Can I resurrect a Trench Pilgrim that died as a result of being Broken on the Wheel as a Martyr Penitent?

A: No. Though the knowledge of their sacrifice is a reward unto itself, they have not earned their martyrdom.

Heretic Legions

HERETIC LEGIONS Q1: Does the special rule that allows a Knights of Avarice Warband to purchase a Goetic Warlock Mercenary for ✪ stop me from being able to recruit a Goetic Warlock as a Mercenary for Glory?

A: No. This rule allows you to have two Goetic Warlocks in a Knights of Avarice Warband.

The Court of the Seven-Headed Serpent

THE COURT Q1: Can my Sorcerer make a cast spell ACTION to use the Burning Inferno Ranged Attack and make a Shoot ACTION to make another Ranged Attack in the same Activation?

A: Yes. Ranged (and Melee) Attacks are not ACTIONS, and it is only ACTIONS that are limited to once per type of ACTION per Activation unless stated otherwise.

Mercenary Questions

MERCENARIES Q1: Can a Mercy Dog drag a Downed model?

A: Yes. The rule specifically states that the Mercy Dog can move a model that is Down.

Campaign Questions

CAMPAIGNS Q1: Do you HAVE to make Promotion Rolls and/or assign Promotion Dice?

A: Yes. When your Patron or your High Command deems it right to promote a member of your Warband, it would be unwise to refuse.

Miscellaneous Questions

MISC. Q1: Some models have a Base size of 30x60mm. How does this work for rules that give different effects depending on Base size (i.e. smaller or larger than 40mm)

A: Models with Bases of different dimensions (e.g. 30x60mm) count their Base size as the larger dimension (e.g. 60mm) for the purposes of rules that refer to Base sizes.

MISC. Q2: Does a rule that affects 'friendly models within X"' also affect the model with that rule? For example, can the owner of a Musical Instrument benefit from its effects?

A: Yes. A model is considered to be within X" of itself unless otherwise stated.

MISC. Q3: I have some models in my collection that carry some items of battlekit that the rules don't allow them to use, just because I think they look great modelled that way. For example, I've made one of my models with a rifle slung on its back, holding a pistol in one hand and a trench club in the other. By the letter of the rules this model can't be used, because it has a 2-Handed Ranged Weapon (the rifle) and a 1-Handed Ranged Weapon (the pistol). Is it okay for me to use the model if I don't use the rifle during the game? If the answer is yes, do I have to pay the cost of the rifle even though I won't use it?

A: It is definitely okay to use your model in a game - the rule of cool takes precedence in this case. If you do, any extra Battlekit that you add is considered to be purely decorative, and you cannot use it and do not have to pay its cost in ducats. It is also ignored when working out the range or Line of Sight to or from the model. However, if you use a model like this in a game, you must tell your opponent which Battlekit is decorative at the start of the game, before either side deploys.